2,000 Miners at Work in Nevada County

Monthly Payroll Holds Firm at Quarter of a Million Dollars

With the payroll practically unchanged from last month, closely approximating $250,000 per month, and 2,000 miners steadily employed in Nevada county mines, this section of the country still retains its place as one of the whitest spots on the economic map of the United States.

In another column is the report of the passage by the House in Washington, of Harry Englebright's bill to bring Federal aid to bear on the problem of resuming hydraulic mining along the Mother Lode, by means of erecting debris dams through Government loans, such loans to be returned through a levy on debris yardage impounded therein.

In this connection a glance at the new map of the placer mining areas, only a small proportion of which has been touched, is illuminating. The map, just compiled by Fred M. Miller, geologist and engineer, of Grass Valley, shows nearly a third of the area of Northern Nevada county is susceptable to placer mining. A large part of this is covered by the lava cap, but even with that eliminated from placer possibilities, there remain thousands of acres available to the monitor when the problem of debris impoundage is finally salved.

The new Miller map gives approximate figures of the total production in Nevada county, of quartz and gravel mines since 1849. The gravel deposits have yielded $50,000,000 by hydraulicking and $10,250,000 by drift mining. Quartz mining in the county, has yielded $214,050,000. However, it should be remembered that hydraulic mining since 1884 has been handicapped, and since 1893, due to the Caminetti act, has been stopped, while quartz mining has gone steadily forward, adopting every new process and new invention to increase its output of the bright yellow metal.

Below are listed the mines actively operating today, with the number of men employed and their approximate payrolls:

FIVE HUNDRED EXPECTED AT DOWNIEVILLE MEET

DOWNIEVILLE, April 19.—Approximately 500 persons are expected here next Sunday to attend a tri-county mass meeting in the interest of mining, good roads and recreational development of Nevada, Sierra and Plumas counties.

A large delegation from Nevada City and Grass Valley is coming.

The meeting is under the auspices of the recently organized Sierra County Chamber of Commerce, of which James E. Nugent of Loyalton, is the president; E. M. Innes of Sierra City, secretary, and S. H. Sherwood, of Loyalton, treasurer.

CITY COUNCIL MEETS

The city council held a special meeting last evening at which the call for bids for the contract to construct the municipal swimming pool, was amended to conform with the legal requirments imposed by the last legislature. Blue prints of the pool as drawn by City Engineer Edw. C. Uren were examined and approved.

This amended Legal Notice will be found on Page four of this issue.

CLUB DELEGATES VISIT EMPIRE STAR MINES

These facts about the Empire Star mines, visited yesterday by a large group of the delegates to the convention of the Northern California District of Federated Women's clubs, may be of special interest to them since they viewed the mines.

The Empire Star quartz mine has been a continuous producer since its discovery in 1851, having never been fully shut down at any time. This is doubtless a record unequaled in the history of California mining. The Empire mine interests saw many lean times in operating the property but new ore bodies were discovered always in time to prevent a shutdown.

The incline shaft in the Empire is over 9,000 feet in length, and over 7,000 feet in depth vertically. It has a reputed production of 875,000,000 up to date.

The main vein system in the North Star has been followed to the 8,600 foot level. It has a production record of $40,000,000.

The Newmont mining company purchased the North Star, Empire and Pennsylvania mines in 1929.

The first discovery of gold noted in Nevada county was made by Jonas Spect at Roses Bar near Smartsville on June 2, 1848, but a few months after Marshall's find at Coloma.

GHOSTS RESTLESS WHEN MINE TUNNEL IS RUN UNDER OLD CEMETERY

Pat Morris, Forest mine owner, has lately exhibited some very handsome specimens of picture rock taken from his claim. The specimen's of white quartz, handsomely streaked with gold, came from a tunnel that meanders under an old cemetery, in which many a gold seeker of early days turned up his toes and left all the gold in the world behind him. Some of them of course never found any gold except the gold of mountain air, lovely scenery, a good appetite for beans and whiskey, and golden dreams of striking it rich.

Now Pat Morris says, with a sly smile, that those gentlemen, above (for the tunnel runs underneath them), are raising merry Ned, whenever he works at the pleasant job of taking out the rich ore. He says that between shots he not only hears them turning in their graves, with a great rustling of shrouds and whiskers, but he can hear them calling down imprecations on "this here tenderfoot who is making such a hellish racket and commotion" in the cellar of their abode. But it won't be long now until he will be out from under them and they can resume their quiet wait for Gabriel's horn.

MRS. WEST WILL BE POSTMASTER

Senator William G. McAdoo, announced Tuesday that Postmaster General Farley had signed an order appointing Mrs. Bettie Martin West of Nevada City postmaster.

In January the Nevada County Democratic Committee endorsed Mrs. West for the appointment. The term of Postmaster Scadden expires Sunday, April 22, and it is probable the office will be turned over to Mrs. West as soon as some formalities have been met.

MINING MAN FALLS INTO OLD SHAFT, DAZED

Edward Powell, of Nevada City, while out with a party of mining men below Rough and Ready Monday fell into a shallow abandoned mine shaft and was severly bruised and stunned in his fall. Atfer getting out he wandered for a time until he met snipers who told him where he was. In the meantime his companions from whom he had strayed, sent in a call for help. Chief of Police Garfield Robson, of Nevada City, and Captain Joe Blake, of the Highway Patrol, responded and gathering a posses and started a search.

Mr. Powell had gone with a group of mining men composed of C. E. Clinch, Arthur Foote, Harry Goudge all of Grass Valley and Frank Clarke of Nevada City. The men were examining the Hudson mine on Deer Creek near Rough and Ready.

Scion Of Nevada City Family Weds Pittsburg Girl

Milton E. Schiffner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto E. Schiffner, was married Wednesday, April 18th, in Reno to Miss Ellen Bolger of Pittsburg, Penn. After the ceremony they took a short motor trip and will arrive in Nevada City Friday. This evening there will be a wedding dinner in their honor at the Schiffner home. Saturday the happy young couple will go to San Francisco where they will make their future home.

Howdy Ladies! This Town And These Hills Are Yours

The Thirty Second Convention of the Northern District Federation of Women's clubs convened yesterday morning in the beautifully decorated Elks' club rooms. Twenty two counties and 69 clubs were represented by the 200 delegates assembled there.

The president of the Northern District, Mrs. W. B. Rider, assisted by Mrs. A. E. Coolot and Mrs. F. F. Ford, presided. During the opening ceremonies the "Star Spangled Banner" was sung with Mrs. Lydia Talbot as soloist. Mrs. F. H. Swetzer led in community singing. The Reverend H. H. Buckner pronounced the invocation, Miss Minnie Brand, retiring presindent of the Nevada City Civic Club welcomed the delegates and Mrs. H. E. Kjorlie gave a greeting.

CONVENTION THEME

The theme of the convention is: "Coming Togetehr to Give and to Receive." Club activities and the condition of women's clubs in the northern District constituted the theme of a report by the president, Mrs. Rider. Mrs. Charles Elliott sang two songs and was called upon for an encore. Mrs. Paul C. Alexander, state chairman for public health was the speaker of the morning session. She is a former Nevada City resident having come here a number of years ago as a bride. Her many frieinds remember her as Mrs. F. Zeitler. Her talk was on "the home and growing children.' It was an address all women of the comunity should have heard, deeply interesting and instructive to the very last.

The afternoon session of the convention was held in the Methodist church. Among the first reports given was one by Mrs. F. H. Neilson, chairman of radio, in which studies were made of programs of radia broadcasts. Mrs. Phillips, district chairman of literature introduced Dr. Arnesen, who spoke on "The Contemporary Novel." He stated there were three waves in literature, the third coming after the World War, and that the depression has had the effect of improving the novel. American literature carries an individuality of its own, giving a tone of freedom.

EMPIRE MINE VISITED

Mrs. Rose Sypher, district chairman of music, introduced the chorals which came in the following order: Willows, Chico, Fair Oaks and Lincoln. The Willows Choral Club won the cup although it was hard for the judges to decide. Mrs. George Stine gave two whistling solos which were greatly enjoyed.

Adjournment was taken and all left by automobile for the Empire Mine in Grass Valley where they were shown the surface workings of the mine through the courtesy of Fred Nobs. George Hammill acted as traffic escort for the long caravan of cars. Later all were taken to the Empire Country Club where tea was served.

LAST NIGHT

The evening program under the direction of Mrs. Maxwell Sypher in the Methodist church, was entirely of music and provided a rare treat to all music lovers. The Grass Valley Octette sang a charming medley of beloved melodies, with George Von Hagel, celloist, Ruth Rowland Bryan, contralto, and Maxwell Sypher, accompaniest.

George Von Hagel played two very charming selections on the cello and Ruth Rowland Bryan sang a group of songs: More Cello selections were played by Mr. Von Hagel.

STATE HIGHWAY CREW AT WORK ON STREETS

The California Highway Commission yesterday began its work of improving the streets through Nevada City which are links in the State highway system. A crew of fifteen men are employed in clearing weeds from the right of way from Pine St. bridge to the city limits on the highway.

WELCOME

With the gladness of spring we greet you—
Our hearts and our hands we give
To you, by whose faith and courage
The soul of the land shall live.
You come with an earnest purpose
To this city of forest and mine,
And we mingle our Highland welcome
With the spirit of forty nine.

May you gather strength from the forests,
Peace from the templed hills,
And a finer sense of freedom
From the untamed mountain rills;
And with these may the lovlier visions,
Born of the heart and the brain,
The flowers of your thoughts and fancies
Live—till we meet again.

Over magic trails of romance
You will stray for a few bright hours;
Thrilled by the song of a river
And the perfume of wildwood flowers;
Lured by the gleam of dogwood
You may stand by a rippling stream,
Or pause in sun-flecked shadows
To silently listen and dream.

Mr. Gove Celio,

Nevada City,
April 16, 1934

Greetings:

At your invitation, I took a New Chevrolet Sedan out for a drive yesterday, for the purpose of showing the car to some of my friends in the mountains. When we (the family went along left your garage the speedometer showed 189.2 miles. We drove a motorlogue journey touching all the settlements to Sierra City, and went 5 miles beyond this point. I have personally driven this road over 450 round trips and consider it one of the outstanding-tough roads in California. The car even under such conditions was a marvel of easy riding, even my children noticed this quality. The steering mechanism was a thrilling revelation of easy manipulation, road shock seemed not to come through the steering column at all. There was not the usual fatigue which is common on such motor trips. The brakes were soft but positive in action and the knee action wheels gave the climaxing thrill to the outing. When we again arrived in Nevada City the speedometer registered 316.9, or nearly 128 miles and as you know I personally checked the gasoline both when I went out and when I came back. We used 7 gallons, which is a little better than 18 miles per gallon, which seems to me phenomenal in a car with the power plant response which I found in the Sedan.

You may use this letter to help you sell cars, and refer me to anyone who may wish further information.

Yours Truly

Next Time Bring Your Men Folks

This really, in its traditional aspects, is a he-man's town—Time was when some 6000 people lived here, most of them were men, and "bearded like the pard." When women and children were scarce and gold more easily found than it is today, those husky forebears of ours, naturally set greater store by women than gold, "What you ain't got, you want."

But today descendants of those stalwart Argonauts have been tamed. The women who are mainly responsible for most of the good things in life, have moved in and tamed them, taught them manners, first trimmed and then severed their beards, so that nowadays men meet face to face, and do not peer out from various ambushes.

One thing of the old times, the women did, who came later to busily engage in the work of civilization, was to preserve the fine traditions of hospitality that we fondly like to think, is at its best along the Mother Lode.

And the writer, who lives atop one of these here gold filled seven hills of Nevada City, and is thus able to savor sounds, sights and smells as they drift upward, will testify that the women of Nevada City have baked just about a million cookies and other goodies in the last two days, by way of exemplifying that old Fortyniner welcome: "Come in Stranger and make yourself at home."

But this is the message we, speaking editorially for the shaven and shorn sex, most wish to get across to the delegates of Northern California Club Women.

We are glad you are all with us, every last man, woman and child of us, and we'll be glad to welcome you as many times as you can can come to us, but please, ladies, bring your men folks up too.

This is not a cry from Macedonia, nary bit. But we do have something in these mountains of ours that gives he-man qualities to men. The rugged hills build rugged character. When the Argonauts had made their pile in these highlands, they settled in the lowlands and put their very distinctive and royally fine stamp on the civilization of California.

And so we invite you to visit us again, singly and in groups and bring your brothers, husbands and sons, not necessarily to find gold metal here, but to find those great intangibles of the spirit that are rarer and better than gold.

"What It Really Is Like" in San Juan

WHEN Mrs. Roosevelt was inspecting living conditions in San Juan, Puerto Rico, she asked the camera man to make this picture "to show really what it is like." She is standing at the edge of a pool of dirty water swarming with flies in the center of La Perla, one of the slum streets.

BEDTIME STORY FOR CHILDREN

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

FARMER BROWN'S BOY AND NIMBLE AS FRIENDS

OF ALL the timid people I know of, none is more timid than Nimble Heels, the Jumping Mouse. But a funny thing about very timid people is that often they get over fear easier and more quickly than some who are supposed to be very much braver. It was so with Nimble Heels. Now, wouldn't you suppose that after being almost killed by a great giant who he never had seen before, Nimble Heels would have been frightened almost to death, and remained so? At first he was frightened. Of course. He would have been a funny fellow if he hadn't been.

But it didn't take Nimble Heels long to find out that those hands of Farmer Brown's boy were very gentle hands. Somehow, after a little he liked to be stroked by them. Then he was wrapped in something soft. It was the handkerchief of Farmer Brown's boy. In this he made the longest journey he had ever dreamed of. Clear across the Green Meadows, up the Long Lane, across the farm yard to Farmer Brown's house. There Farmer Brown's boy placed him in the snuggest of snug little cages with soft moss for a bed, and left him to himself.

Nimble Heels still felt a little weak, so he buried himself in the soft moss and went to sleep. It was night and quite dark when finally he awoke. At first he couldn't imagine where he was. Then he remembered, and all of a sudden he was all shivery with fear. It was still, very, very still, so at last he found courage to creep out and examine the place where he was. It didn't take him long to discover that he was a prisoner, and a perfect panic of fear swept over him.

The next day, when Farmer Brown's boy came to look at him and see how he was getting along, Nimble Heels wouldn't poke so much as the tip of his nose out from under the moss. Very carefully Farmer Brown's boy uncovered him. When he saw that Nimble Heels was all right he covered him over as he was before and left him. After a while Nimble Heels poked his head out to see what had become of Farmer Brown's boy. No one was to be seen, but there was the most tempting pile of seeds and grain. Nimble Heels suddenly felt hungry.

After that he understood that Farmer Brown's boy would not harm him, but was his protector, and at once they became the best of friends. Always Nimble Heels was sure of finding something especially nice to eat in one of Farmer Brown's boy's pockets.

He was safe. He was safer, perhaps, than ever before in all his life. But he was a prisoner. Not even safety could make up for loss of freedom. Nimble Heels began to pine and lose his appetite. Then it was that Farmer Brown's boy showed that he had an understanding heart and was in truth a friend worth having. He took Nimble Heels in his pocket and started down the Long Lane. Out on the Green Meadows he went straight to the very place where Nimble Heels had jumped up his trousers-leg. There he took Nimble Heels from his pocket. Making sure that no enemies were near, he set Nimble Heels down in the grass. From sheer joy in being free once more, Nimble Heels jumped once, twice, three times. And if only he had looked back to see he would have seen the most surprised boy ever.

"Whew! That little chap is some jumper!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's boy, admiringly. It was the first time he had ever seen Nimble Heels jump.

SERVE BANANAS

BANANAS make delightful salads, fruit cocktails, desserts, ices, and may be served as a vegetable. Bananas should be thoroughly ripe if used fresh. Those a bit green will cook nicely and be wholesome.

Baked Bananas.

Strip the skin from the firm yellow fruit, scrape the banana to remove the strings which give an acrid flavor to the fruit. Cut into halves lengthwise, place in a buttered dish and sprinkle with sugar. Pour over six tablespoonfuls of water and bake in a moderate oven until translucent. For six bananas, use six teaspoonfuls of sugar (brown is best), with a pinch of salt.

Bananas Baked in Lemon Juice.

Cut four large bananas into halves lengthwise and put into a baking dish. Peel two large oranges and divide into sections. Add the sections to the top of the bananas. Sift one-half cupful of sugar over the oranges and add one-half cupful of lemon juice with any of the juice left from the oranges. Bake 20 minutes. Serve hot or cold. Very nice with cold meats.

Banana Fritters.

Remove the skins from eight bananas and cut into halves lengthwise, then into quarters. Sprinkle with powdered sugar, one-half tablespoonful of lemon juice and one-half tablespoonful of grated orange rind. Cover and let stand half an hour. Then dip into the following batter and fry in deep fat. Drain on brown paper. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and serve.

For the batter—mix and sift one cupful of flour, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful of baking powder, add one-half cupful of milk and one beaten egg. Add a tablespoonful of melted butter and beat thoroughly before using.

Bananas fried in butter make a fine garnish for broiled steak. Served with cooked chops they are especially good.

Of all lost treasure lying on the ocean bed, the largest single mass of gold specie is the $150,000,000 worth of coin in Vigo bay, off the Spanish coast, which went down with the 40 vessels of the Spanish Plate fleet of 1702.

A PRAYER

By ANNE CAMPBELL

LORD, when I stand in that first moment, blinded
From being nearer the rising sun,
I will be wonder-struck and unreminded
Of all the kindly deeds I might have done.

Give me thy pity, Lord, and blame me not
For the omissions of my sorry lot,
But with thine all-embracing charity
Judge me by what I truly meant to be!

Largest Lump of Gold

The bureau of mines says that so far as it knows the largest piece of gold ever found was a chunk from a deep mine in Chile, weighing 4,900 troy ounces, or 336 avoirdupois pounds. The largest loose piece was a Beyer & Holterman nugget found at Hill End, New South Wales, in 1872, weighing 630 avoirdupois pounds gross, and contained 193 pounds net of gold.

HOUSE PASSES BILL GIVING AID TO DEBRIS DAMS

Dispatches received yesterday from Washington state that the way was partly cleared Tuesday for the government to finance feasible hydraulic mining dams in California. The house hah passed a bill by representative Harry L. Englebright of Nevada City ,amending the act of 1893, which created the California Debris Commission.

Under the amendment the commission would be permitted to finance the construction of dams through a tax on miners. Englebright expreaed the belief that the senate will pass the bill.

WILL TAX MINERS

"Under the original act, he explained, "there were no dams built with federal funds since it was not conhidered possible to repay the costs. Miners, however, have put up the money for construction of dams by the commission.

"The amendment passed by the house today would permit the commission to construct dams on a sound economic basis. The commission would be able to tax miners operating above the dams at so much per cubic yard of material mined."

WILL ASSESS YARDAGE

An assessment of 1 or 2 cents a cubic yard would pay for a dam, Englebright said past investigation has indicated. He said he believes "miners can afford to pay" such an assessment.

Explaining the debris commission had reported for the first time since 1893 that such projects "are both feasible and desirable at this time," Englebright stated:

"In my opinion this bill will open the way for considerable activity in hydraulic gold mining in California. The commission already has asked public works for $85,900 to make a further investigation to determine what projects are desirable for development in the near future."

MAY USE PWA FUNDS

The debris commission was created to regulate hydraulic minnig at a time when charges were made that the work was creating flood hazards by filling up streams. The dams would be designed to catch waste materials.

Under the original bill, Englebright said, the commission "could collect only approximately three mills per cubic yard toward payment for a dam, an amount which made government financing infeasible." Englebright said he believes the amendment would make public works money available for financing the dams.

Mrs. Gomer Hopkins, of Gold Flat, is confined to her home with a sprained ankle, received in a fall at Sweetland where she had gone with her husband to attend a family reunion. All her sisters were present for the event. The injury to Mrs. Hopkins ankle somewhat spolied the happiness of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Robins motored to Sacramento Tuesday foor the day.

Nevada City,
April 16, 1934

Greetings:

At your invitation, I took a New Chevrolet Sedan out for a drive yesterday, for the purpose of showing the car to some of my friends in the mountains. When we (the family went along left your garage the speedometer showed 189.2 miles. We drove a motorlogue journey touching all the settlements to Sierra City, and went 5 miles beyond this point. I have personally driven this road over 450 round trips and consider it one of the outstanding-tough roads in California. The car even under such conditions was a marvel of easy riding, even my children noticed this quality. The steering mechanism was a thrilling revelation of easy manipulation, road shock seemed not to come through the steering column at all. There was not the usual fatigue which is common on such motor trips. The brakes were soft but positive in action and the knee action wheels gave the climaxing thrill to the outing. When we again arrived in Nevada City the speedometer registered 316.9, or nearly 128 miles and as you know I personally checked the gasoline both when I went out and when I came back. We used 7 gallons, which is a little better than 18 miles per gallon, which seems to me phenomenal in a car with the power plant response which I found in the Sedan.

You may use this letter to help you sell cars, and refer me to anyone who may wish further information.

Yours Truly

Next Time Bring Your Men Folks

This really, in its traditional aspects, is a he-man's town—Time was when some 6000 people lived here, most of them were men, and "bearded like the pard." When women and children were scarce and gold more easily found than it is today, those husky forebears of ours, naturally set greater store by women than gold, "What you ain't got, you want."

But today descendants of those stalwart Argonauts have been tamed. The women who are mainly responsible for most of the good things in life, have moved in and tamed them, taught them manners, first trimmed and then severed their beards, so that nowadays men meet face to face, and do not peer out from various ambushes.

One thing of the old times, the women did, who came later to busily engage in the work of civilization, was to preserve the fine traditions of hospitality that we fondly like to think, is at its best along the Mother Lode.

And the writer, who lives atop one of these here gold filled seven hills of Nevada City, and is thus able to savor sounds, sights and smells as they drift upward, will testify that the women of Nevada City have baked just about a million cookies and other goodies in the last two days, by way of exemplifying that old Fortyniner welcome: "Come in Stranger and make yourself at home."

But this is the message we, speaking editorially for the shaven and shorn sex, most wish to get across to the delegates of Northern California Club Women.

We are glad you are all with us, every last man, woman and child of us, and we'll be glad to welcome you as many times as you can can come to us, but please, ladies, bring your men folks up too.

This is not a cry from Macedonia, nary bit. But we do have something in these mountains of ours that gives he-man qualities to men. The rugged hills build rugged character. When the Argonauts had made their pile in these highlands, they settled in the lowlands and put their very distinctive and royally fine stamp on the civilization of California.

And so we invite you to visit us again, singly and in groups and bring your brothers, husbands and sons, not necessarily to find gold metal here, but to find those great intangibles of the spirit that are rarer and better than gold.

JUNIOR CLASS ON TIPTOE FOR THE PROM

BY HARLEY LEETE JR.

The Junior class, of the Nevada City high school, will give its annual Prom next Friday evening, April 27, in Armory hall. All the traditions will be followed. Fruit punch will be served and the orchestra, especially "hot," will be the Allen aggregations of jazzeteers from Marysville.

Dick Bennett, chairman of the decoration committee, announces that the scheme this year will carry out the forest motif. Audrey Davis, chairman of the music and hall committee, has completed all arrangements.

Isobel Dunlap, chairman of the refreshment committee, is arranging to have the punch flow from an imitation spring or to be drawn from an old fashioned well. Dick Marriott, publicity chairman has procured advertising, tickets and posters for the big event. Lloyd Haddy, clean-up chairman, is waiting patiently for the day after.

Howdy! we say it gaily
As they did in the days of yore;
May your days be bright in the hills of light
Where the fathers delved for ore;
May all of your tasks prove easy,
May all of your dreams come true,
May your lives be gay in work or in play
What more can we ask for you?
A. M. C.

The verse above expresses our good wishes for our visitors. Prose cannot add to it. But this we suggest: that while here you examine the thousand charming and lovely sites for your dream home. And when you are ready, come to us and we will help you to make your dream come true.
